

I have been thinking much of late about the nature of things and the way in which they are connected together. It seems to me that there is a certain order and harmony in the universe, and that this order is not the result of chance, but of a wise and powerful Creator. I have often wondered how it is that the laws of nature are so perfectly adapted to the needs of the human mind, and how it is that the same laws which govern the motions of the planets also govern the motions of the human soul. It seems to me that there is a certain analogy between the two, and that the laws of nature are in some sense a reflection of the laws of the human mind.
 I have often thought of the human mind as a kind of mirror, which reflects the laws of nature in its own way. It is as if the human mind were a kind of instrument, which is used to measure the laws of nature.
 I have often thought of the
 human mind as a kind of
 scale, which is used to weigh the laws of nature. It is as if the human mind were a kind of balance, which is used to compare the laws of nature with the laws of the human mind. I have often thought of the human mind as a kind of compass, which is used to find the way to the laws of nature. It is as if the human mind were a kind of
 instrument, which is used to
 measure the laws of nature.
 I have often thought of the
 human mind as a kind of
 scale, which is used to weigh
 the laws of nature. It is as if
 the human mind were a kind of
 balance, which is used to
 compare the laws of nature
 with the laws of the human
 mind. I have often thought
 of the human mind as a kind
 of compass, which is used to
 find the way to the laws of
 nature. It is as if the human
 mind were a kind of
 instrument, which is used to
 measure the laws of nature.

